

My Goals

1. Why do I want to learn this skill?

What does it mean to you? What are your motivations? Will you prove something to yourself or people around you? Will you get a raise because you're better at your job or will you get a better job?

All my life I've felt in love with computers and how they work. Even though, I never thought about becoming a software engineer or a programmer. That was far away from the future expectatives I had for life. After my years of university, after working for different companies in different fields, I now realise that life's too short to be waisting it with jobs we don't love. I've come to realise that if I'm going to make it through until I'm too old, I MUST work in something I truly like and enjoy. Besides, it's a better pay and will give my family a better life.

2. What will I achieve if I learn this skill?

Which doors will this skill open for you? Will you be able to earn more, have more flexibility in your work hours, work remotely and travel more?

I'm going to become an Apple Developer. I may get jobs to develop incredible and beautiful apps for iPhone, iPad, macOS. I will have a much better life in terms of economy and flexibility to enjoy my sparetime with my family, better opportunities, work remotely, go to the USA to an Apple Event, that's like a dream right now.

3. How will this skill change my life and my career?

Would you get a raise at your current job or more respect from your boss once you've learnt this skill? Or will you be at Facebook, Amazon or Google instead? How would your life change?

I'm just going to start all over again. Goodbye shy paying job. Say hello programmer's life!

4. How will learning this skill impact the lives of my family, friends and coworkers?

What will you be able to do for your family or friends once you've learnt this skill? How will it change the way they think of you? Will your coworkers respect you more?

Definitely, my family's life is going to improve. Jobs in the tech world are so much better payed, and I personally am going to enjoy infinitely more what I do for living.

5. How will I feel if I never accomplish this?

Would you feel disappointed? Would you feel like you've missed out?

For sure, I'll be disappointed. I'll be sad, maybe I'll feel that I wasted my time and that sacrificing so many hours without my family will not give any results. I know I can fail. But the thing is, I'll never forgive myself if I don't even try it. I need to do this, for my sanity and my family's behave.

6. What would my life look like if I manage to accomplish this?

Visualise it. What would life look like from the moment you wake up to the time you go to sleep? Will you be living by the sea? Would you kiss your beautiful wife/husband when you wake up?

Everything is going to be like a dream come true!
